A FRESH START FOR THE MOVEMENT

by FREN-Z Editor-in-Chief Bax Atos Xore

Spring is in full swing! As nature renews itself so too does our movement. New groups of activists, artists, and organizers are cropping up all the time. Cross collaboration is becoming normalized. Frens of all varieties, with varying ideologies, are laying down their petty differences to join together in resistance against the corrupt system that dominates our lives. Frenly ideologies are becoming more popular and acceptable. National Socialism, Fascism, and other unfairly maligned beliefs are slowly gaining traction amongst the disenchanted masses. This is truly a fresh start

As exciting as it is to see so many newly redpilled people wanting to get active, there is also an unfortunate tendency to be harsh on these people. It's easy to see why: If someone was once a bluepilled, pro-gay, "good goy," they likely have a history of doing things that we find distasteful. Sometimes these people even come to us with some of their old ZOG programming still active, with pleas for us to adapt to fit the poisonous ideals they haven't shed.

Treating these people with a degree of suspicion or hostility is understandable, but I'd like to urge all frens to be somewhat forgiving of what people might have done before their redpilling. Ongoing degeneracy is unforgivable, but if someone was brainwashed during their youth and engaged in degenerate behavior a decade ago, I think we should be willing to accept them into our ranks. Gatekeeping anyone who wasn't lucky enough to be born into a nonpozzed family is to our detriment.

Before you jump to judgment, consider all of the great men of our movement who have started out bluepilled. George Lincoln Rockwell, for instance, fought against Nationalist Germany during World War II. After the war, he realized that he was on the wrong side of things and he publicly advocated for the ideals he had previously fought against through armed combat. What possible action could a person take against an ideology or movement that's more extreme than armed combat in a global war? Would you accuse Rockwell of being disingenuous because of his past participation in such a thing? Of course not-at the time, he didn't fully understand the situation.

Most of us started like that, without full understanding. We did as we were told, emulated the hedonistic nightmare lifestyle that the jewish media promotes, and we did things we aren't proud of. We stumbled upon message boards, or videos, or books. We gradually formed more complete worldviews that helped us breakaway from ZOG conditioning. If we could speak to our former selves somehow, many of those interactions would be deeply uncomfortable.

If we can forgive ourselves for our past degeneracy – for when we acted without knowing what we were really doing – then we need to be willing to forgive others who once lived a more degenerated lifestyle (within reason, of course, as some things are surely unforgivable). So long as their character has improved and they aren't engaging in degenerated behaviors, we should celebrate the renewal of once tarnished members of our race(s). The SS was certainly willing to do so, as some of their members were former Weimar degenerates.

Our movement will continue to grow. We must learn to cooperate towards our shared goals. Every one of us wants a better future for our people. We want the right to self-determination. We want to ensure the continuation of our racial and cultural groups. Maybe we have different religions, ideologies, or heritages, but such differences can be hashed out after the fall of zionism. During this period of growth, outside forces are going to focus on these differences to slow us down or divide us. We must learn to ignore that.

In this issue, our theme is that of renewal and reiuvenation. People are not stagnant—they change. We all go through our own unique redpilling processes. Join us in shedding past mistakes, refocusing ourselves, and struggling together for real change in our lifetimes. The road ahead is long and difficult, but together we can triumph over the evil that infects our world.

strategies for an abstract war

These suggestions were originally posted in a somewhat different format. Multiple frens posted their strategies for passively resisting the system. They have been reformatted. rewritten, and parts of the posts in question have been omitted. While symbolic terminology relating to war is used, this is not meant to encourage literal war, violence, or any other illegal activities.

COMMUNITY SUGGESTIONS

We find ourselves unwilling participants in an abstract war—a war for behavioral control, fought with information. We are unable to gather and organize. However, that isn't necessary. Things are done differently today than they used to be and one can resist the situation in many creative ways.

List things that one can do to resist the evil jewish empire destroying our planet.

- Take no more loans. Pay back loans previously taken as quickly as possible.
- Never purchase products from companies you deem completely kiked.
- Consciously strive to be a stronger, more self-sufficient person every day.

How do you fight this strange war?

- Rid yourself of your smartphone.
- Sire offspring that will not be handed over to the enemy's golem factories. Every day. work on gathering teaching material, folk stories, songs, and so on, to be ready to teach them.
- Broaden your understanding of other European languages than those you already know.
- Give your children traditional names sourced from your ethnic heritage.

- Try to become as self sufficient as possible. You should know the basics of gardening, cooking, and maintenance.
- Do everything within your power to help those around you become the best person they can be
- Actively call out kike bullshit when encountered. Even if you have to do it without naming the kike because of cucked laws. Name the jew whenever not actively threatened by
- Archive materials -- posts, images, videos, articles, books, games, and anothing else you want to keep existing. Don't take the internet for granted and don't presume any given material will always be available to us.

 whenever possible.

- Stop eating processed foods.
- Overcome your "normal" addictions (sugar, nicotine, caffeine, alcohol, porn, etc.).
- Post redpills on social media burners and expose censored information to normies.
- Put effort into your relationship with your parents and reconcile if you're not on good terms.
- Drink plenty of milk, get a lot of protein, and pay attention to your nutrition.

BOUND BY BLOOD OUR INESCAPIBLE RESPONSIBILITIES

Originally published in 1942 for the German SS. Glauben und Kampfen ("Faith and Struggle") is a concise primer on how to live a healthy life, as told from the perspective of our world's natural laws. It addresses questions on the relationship between race, marriage, community, and culture. These brief passages have been translated into English by Third Reich Books. We've further edited the content for modern audiences without making significant changes to the meaning. THE OUESTION OF BLOOD

In this period of struggle for the future of our people, you will become conscious — through your family, community, and beyond — of the bond that unites us all. We form an inseparable and sworn community that strives together ceaselessly. Furthermore, you must know that your life, your essence, your abilities, and your characteristics all stem from your ancestors. You must take over the same role for the generations which come after you. You cannot shake this responsibility off; rather, you have the obligation and duty to adjust your life and live it accordingly.

We are being threatened with annihilation—not only economically and politically, but also biologically. The answer to the question of how to save ourselves is very simple. We must make our kind's traditional laws of life - whose observance is the prerequisite for any further development - the foundation of our thoughts, actions, and feelings.

Our ancestors, who were firmly rooted in the soil, instinctively recognized these things as right. Unfortunately, through the course of history, these

The knowledge of these laws of life and now work of the following found are, and are, the knowledge of these laws of life and the awakened consciousness of our kind are, today, a certain signpost for our entire action. So we want to look at the following foundations of the laws of life - of our world view - from the perspective of our entire race. These are the duties of the individual who wishes to

YOUR DUTIES MOVING FORWARD

1. Guard your health and - as long as you are still at a developing age - practice restraint in regard to recreational poisons (alcohol, nicotine, marijuana, etc.) and limit your sexual activity. It must be remembered that the Nordic person generally achieves full maturity especially late in development.

2. Marry as early as possible. Only then will you completely enjoy family life with your wife.

- 3. Do not marry a woman of another race. You are responsible to your folk and to your offspring for the sanctity of our blood. To merge into another group is to
- erase ourselves in the process, thus casting countless thousands of years of our people's development into the dustbin.

 4. Do not marry a congenitally ill woman. Otherwise you'll carry the guilt for the suffering of your own children and grandchildren. In the long-term, such defects could end your bloodline entirely!
- could end your bloodline entirely!

 S. Choose only a complicity healthy wife for yourself. The true picture of the health and characteristics of your future wife are shown to you by her family.

 Consider how her older female relatives have aged and what health issues they've developed along the way!

 6. Your wife should be AT LEAST as racially worthy as yourself. Do not marry someone with a worse genetic makeup than yourself.

 7. Endeavor to get yourself and your children back into the countryside. The city is no place to raise a family!

- 8. Avoid marriage with a relative. Undesirable traits are almost always concealed from you, lurking in your recessive genes, only to then emerge TWICE as strong in your children if you've formed an incestuous relationship. The closer your familial relationship, the worse these effects will be.

 9. You must preserve your hereditary makeup for your folk in the LARGEST POSSIBLE NUMBER OF CHILDREN. In other words: you have an obligation to produce as
- many healthy, racially sound children as you can support. In our children we live on

THE PAPERGOY'S GUIDE: SOME BASICS by Fren, Mon 02 Feb 2023, 02:39:08 | https://archive.is/0fW5r

I'm sure the sticker frens are well-intentioned and stickering can have an effect, but it's much easier to have a bullshit crime charged against you if you decide to sticker the wrong surface. They might try to hit you with vandalism, littering, and so forth. It's safer to do traditional flyers without any adhesive.

>Is flyering legal?

Yes, flyering counts as the distribution of literature, and there's a lot of legal backing for that being protected by the First Amendment (presuming you're in the USA—EuroFrens have more restrictive laws). Kiked police departments might try to charge you for littering. To avoid that, you'll want to weigh the flyers down with something harmless, like small stones or wooden pellets. This is because, in some areas, a piece of literature might be viewed as litter if it isn't of sufficient weight to avoid being blown away. Look into your local laws if you're concerned.

>How do I get flyers?

Pick a flyer from the Frens Chan /art/ community flyer thread, GTVFlyers.com, or design your own. Don't print at a public place, unless you have no other option. You ideally want to get a second-hand printer, bought in cash, that won't ever connect to the internet. Avoid HP and other brands that spy on their users, force registration, or do other bullshit. The Epson EcoTank ET-2800 has been repeatedly recommended by activists as its ink tanks are said to be more cost efficient over time. This becomes more important when you're printing thousands of flyers—you don't need to buy an EcoTank if you're just dipping your toes into activism for the first time.

> How do I distribute flyers?

Place a single bagged up flyer (or a single bag with multiple flyers) on each recipient's driveway, front porch, or door-stoop Do not, under any circumstances, touch any mailboxes. Do not put materials in or on mailboxes. You can get in a lot of trouble for that. Otherwise, just try to leave it someplace immediately visible but out of the way. Wear a mask, gloves, and plain, dark clothes. Be aware of Ring cameras and other home surveillance systems. You can just loop around in your car and toss flyers out your windows, but there's a chance your plate could get recorded by someone's camera. If you're worried about that, park your car somewhere safe before proceeding on bike or on foot. If you're on bike/foot, with nondescript clothes, a good face mask, and gloves, it'll be virtually impossible for anyone to find you and harass you later.

>Where should I flyer?

In residential areas. You want to avoid any religious buildings (churches, synagogues, mosques, temples). You may want to look into demographics to identify affluent white neighborhoods rather than just picking neighborhoods at random. Alternatively, you could distribute flyers in black areas, especially when utilizing materials about the jewish culpability for US slavery. Don't target down to specific people or intentionally give the material to a recipient who you have some sort of existing conflict with. Avoid areas with high concentrations of jews, as they're the most likely to try and exact revenge on you for exposing their kikery. As a rule of thumb, if a flyer criticizes a particular group of people, avoid giving it to that group as it'll only cause needless conflict. The goal is not to target, harass, or harm anyone—all we're trying to do is spread true information peacefully and legally!

>When should I flyer?

It depends on your circumstances. In some areas there seem to be "prowling" laws that might get you hassled if you're distributing materials too late at night. Then again, if you're trying to minimize direct conflict during distribution, you can't beat 3-4AM. Too late for the night owls, too early for the old folk breakfast rush. When you distribute during the day, make sure you maintain good situational awareness. Don't allow yourself to be coerced into a physical confrontation.

ALWAYS REMEMBER: >>BEWARE OF THE MICRODOT

>>If you're outside of the US and are worried about a print being traced to you, use this: https://github.com/dfd-tud/deda

>>It is a piece of software to anonymize your prints. There's a guide on the GitHub.
There's no downside to anonymizing your prints, so take the time to do so. Wear gloves during the printing, bagging, and distribution process to avoid your prints being collected. Despite the fact that this is all legal, you need to treat it as seriously as you'd treat something that wasn't, as the corrupt faggots we're up against don't always play by the rules. Taking precautions like this could help you avoid catching a bullshit charge and having your rights violated.

THE PAPERGOY'S GUIDE: DON'T BE A COWARD

Fren, Mon Feb 20 2023, 03:56:15 https://archive.is/0fW5r

Look, I'm all for lowering the bar of activism to the point where everyone can participate, but it can't get to a point where you're afraid to do anything because you're afraid you might get harassed by a cop.

You understand we are the target of genocide, right?

You understand we are the target of genocide, right?
This isn't a game. The enemy wants to erase our people from existence. And we're sitting here agonizing about being harassed by cops?

Buddhist monks in Vietnam lit themselves on fire to protest religious persecution. Just a few years ago, a Muslim man immolated himself over flour prices, and millions of other Muslims rose up and risked their lives in open rebellion against governments far less subtle than the American regime. In Imperial Russia, communists marched towards soldiers with guns and dared them to shoot, and they did. Even niggers and their shitlib simps showed more courage by sitting in a cafe and letting outraged patrons insult them, or disobeyed laws knowing that they'd be taken to jail, not merely harassed by police.

Listen: we're weak. We lack even the organization of niggers in Africa who died by the hundreds and thousands in revolt against the Rhodesians. We post screenshots of the battles where 10,000 Africans died and only 3 Rhodesians did, but these Africans somehow found the backbone to risk their lives, and even die, for the cause of black nationalism. Yet here we are shivering in terror at the mere threat of being charged with littering.

I used to advocate flyering and people would tell me that they're terrified of being caught putting up a pro-White flyer. Have you read historical accounts of the past? Do you think that being thrown in prison frightened Hitler into submission? What about your ancestors who may have been beaten and thrown into a horrendous prison for opposing foreign rule?

My ancestors chose to speak out against French colonialism of Germany during the Napoleonic conquests, and the French soldiers were known to massacre entire towns when they encountered resistance to French rule. Further back in time, I am certain that my ancestors fought and died to keep Roman invaders from conquering their homeland. The punishment for defiance was crucifixion, slavery, or slaughter.

The punishments we face if caught are laughably minor in comparison. Act while that's still the case, because one day their genocidal operations against us will become less covert.

THE FUTILITY OF INFIGHTING

by Fren, Wed 8 Feb 2023 02:33:45 | https://archive.ph/Rq2XY

The movement to resist the system has faced the problem of infighting for a long time. We do not have a singular dogma or figurehead to rally around. Disagreements are natural in such an environment. We must set these issues aside to address the bigger problems ahead. One doesn't argue about where to sail a ship while it's actively sinking. You must first repair the hull and bail out the water before you can worry about a destination! All of us have our own feelings about the ideal outcome of this struggle, but none of those outcomes will be realized if we don't come together to focus on common threats.

The following piece has been revised and some of the author's original meaning has been slightly changed. We have provided an archive link so that you can compare the two if you're inclined.

I can't be the only one that's sick of the infighting. Everyone is so quick to call anyone who they dislike a fed, or a jew, or some other label for bad actor. This contributes nothing positive to our movement and it discourages people from working to resist the current situation.

I read an article that alleged the Goyim Defense League (GDL) to be a bunch of feds, because their activism has the jews in Florida's statehouse trying to pass a law that would essentially make "antisemitism" a felony. This is a rhetorical strategy known as "fed-jacketing," wherein you question your opponent's credibility by accusing them of being involved with federal agents. Participating in this kind of rhetorical attack is counter-productive and we should discourage it.

Handsome Truth is doing good work. More people should follow his example. I can't imagine what fed-jacketers would have said about George Lincoln Rockwell's tactics during the heyday of the American Nazi Party—if I remember correctly, GLR had a man in a gorilla suit follow Martin Luther King around during their "civil rights" marches, meant to equate blacks to apes, which is said to have gotten even King himself laughing. HT has distributed flyers discussing jews, projected some funny messages with a laser drone, and performed a satirical piece as "Tammy Cohen" (a tranny jew character) to trick his way into speaking at a city council meeting (and to get some airtime doing so). These are the closest things we have to modern day GLR style activism. His antics are funny and disarming to normies. He's forcefully injecting our ideas into the mainstream political debate.

Jews panicking, overreaching, and trying to pass unconstitutional laws, doesn't prove that the GDL is some fed psyop, or that HT is a bad actor. If anything, HT is forcing them to make their move early, before they're ready to pull the trigger. We've known that they intend to destroy our freedom of speech for a long time. This premature effort gives us chance to rally normies on our side while enough of them still give a shit about the constitution. Free speech advocates, including the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU), now find themselves forced to argue on our behalf (and with some success so far). Knowing that these laws were coming eventually, I'd rather face them while there are still enough White people left to potentially win.

People have also criticized various activists for not being a pure blood Aryan, which may or may not be true at times. I have no idea, nor do I care. An obsession with every participant in the struggle being 100% "pure blood" is foolish. No successful incarnation of the movement has ever operated that way. Murdoch Murdoch had an entire episode on this called "Pure 100% Bavarian Phenotype." I recommend you watch it.

Nit-picking over someone being 5% Mexican, or 10% Indian, or any other such nonsense, is a waste at best, and an intentional Divide & Conquer tactic at worst. Take help where you can get it and value a man's character. Blood and Soil are important, but we can worry about where to draw the line for citizenship in our ethnostates after we remove the jew. In the meanwhile, if someone is doing good work then let them keep doing what they're doing.

Similarly, I've seen frens talking about the National Justice Party (NJP) in a negative light, pointing to some of their past potcasts featuring takes that haven't aged well. I considered these arguments. I even went and listened to a bunch of old NJP podcasts, but I didn't hear anything too shocking. Jazz Hands himself has said he's embarrassed about some of their takes from back in the day, and I see why, but nothing I saw screamed jew or fed. I think all of us have taken our own winding paths of transitional ideologies to get to where we are now. It isn't any neof a shift than I went through. There was a time where I was blue pilled. If you showed me my own posts from back then, I'd be overwhelmingly humiliated.

I don't mean to disregard real concerns. I'm not trying to accuse anyone of being feds or kikes. That would be exactly what I'm complaining about. There's just a tendency towards paranoia within our ranks. But the old guard Nazis of the ANP, like James Mason, already showed us how to deal with infiltration: just let them buy you coffee and waste their time. Don't ever express a desire to do anything illegal (repeat after me: we're a PEACEPTU, LAW-ABIDING MOVEMENT). Don't ever confess to having done something illegal in the past, no matter how long ago it was.

What if an infiltrator starts participating in events with us? Great, ask them to pass out some flyers with you. If they suggest anything illegal or unseemly, verbally berate them for their foolishness. Put those fed piggies to work for the movement if they're so interested in getting on the inside! They can only fuck you up if you give them something to fuck you up with. Most feds get bored or have their funding pulled before they even get that far, as they're looking for mentally unstable people that they can manipulate into committing crimes. If you don't fit that bill, you're fine, just spend all of your time trying to redpill/demoralize them, get as much free food/coffee as you can out of them, and as much free labor as they'll give you. Never let them work alone (or enter your home), as they might sabotage something, but they shouldn't be near anything especially vulnerable to sabotage in the first place. They will not spend a full year contributing every weekend of their life to redpilling normies. Instead, they'll move on to a target they deem easiers to manipulate or frame.

There's no need for all this fed-jacketing and jew-jacketing. All we have to do is stop being so scared of infiltration. If you're paralyzed by this fear, do all of your activism alone and anonymously. Start getting out into the real world, passing out flyers, talking to people about jews, and making art/media/culture that names the jew. Paint Nazis as the good guys until it sticks. Anything else is probably a waste of time. If you actually give a shit about 1488, show it through your actions and not through endless grandstanding about who you don't like.

An exception: Optics cucks who won't name the jew with regularity are generally useless grifters. Don't waste time on these people either. Don't waste time arguing about them, don't waste time attacking them, and don't give them your money. Don't bother with them at all, unless you're trying to redpill them. Otherwise, we'll never win and Whites will go extinct.

SURVIVING THE RED PILL

by Anonymous (ID: niRSIIf/), Wed 15 Nov 2017 17:37:40

https://archive.4plebs.org/pol/thread/149588819/ https://archive.ph/uwaWr

Many people feel shocked when they start to realize the truth. They'll have a foundational belief come into question and, through research, they'll discover they've been wrong about a given subject for their entire lives. To assist those first experiencing this redpilling phenomena – the process of discovering perspective shattering information, named in allusion to The Matrix (1999) – an anonymous frem wrote this helpful guide. We've made some modifications, but interested parties can compare this version to the original via the provided archive links.

I've seen seriously despondent people who wished they'd never taken the red pill. I see people wallowing in despair because they don't know where the redpilling will lead them. Some want out, but they can't escape. Others just get swallowed up by darkness. Here's how you can survive. It's painful. You will never be the same again. But if you want to come out alive, and, in most cases, be better off, I strongly advise you heed these instructions.

Your first encounter with the truth will be shocking. Everything you read will seem like nonsensical conspiracies, or perhaps "hate speech." You will not understand many of the things people are referring to. If you post your sentiments to one of the few uncensored discussion boards left, such as Frens Chan, you will be the normie that everyone hazes. This is normal. You're not the first. Everyone goes through this.

You will start to understand the jargon. You will start to understand what people are actually saying. You will start swallowing red pills—accepting uncomfortable truths. Unfortunately, for the first six months, this might fill you with hate. Why? You will learn the truth about racial differences, sexual dimorphism, jewish supremacy, governmental corruption, homosexuality, transexuality, and more. You will probably start to hate the people participating in, and responsible for, the situation at hand. You must continue learning. If you stop here, you are doomed.

You must understand the horrible things that have been done to our peoples and societies, without allowing that knowledge to blind you with hate. The highest value will always be love—love for your folk, your family, your community, your culture, your race, and your God. The hate you feel is a natural response to learning that these things, which you should love so dearly, have been repeatedly violated by malicious forces. Hate has been given to you as a tool to rectify the situation, but hate is not the goal in and of itself.

Once you have swallowed enough red pills, you will start feeling isolated from your immediate friends/families. You'll find yourself opposing just about every popular opinion they have. You may try to hold your tongue, but it gets harder and harder. You won't understand why these people are so blind. You won't understand why, at some point in your life, you actually agreed with these people. It's tough becoming estranged from your loved ones, so don't argue. If they are curious, you can lead them a bit. Otherwise, don't try to force feed them red pills. It is important that you understand this: red pills work best when taken voluntarily.

You might fall into despair. You will feel alone. You will feel like everyone around you are just idiots going through life without a single rational thought. Then you will become angry. You will know what true rage is. The strength and magnitude of this rage will surprise you.

This rage is the crucial fork in the road. You can let this anger become a destructive force in your life, or you can use it to become something better. At this stage, you still have not taken the ultimate red pill. That simple red pill is this: you, and you alone, are responsible for your actions. You, and you alone, are responsible for who you turn out to be. You, and no one else, is responsible for your happiness. The truth is, you can't truly take this final pill until you've changed certain things in your life. Tomorrow, you will start this process.

Get up in the morning. Take a shower to help you wake up. Then sit down, close your eyes, and clear your mind. From this moment on, there's NO THINKING. You don't need to do more thinking, you've thought enough. You will only act. There are no more excuses—excuses are something you need to think up. There can be no further rationalizing to justify your failures. You will simply do what needs to be done. Open your eyes and go about your day. Go to your job, or your school, and do your best. From now on, everything you do, no matter how mundane, will be your best effort.

Stop eating processed goyslop "food" and start cooking for yourself. Attend to your chores and errands immediately without letting them pile up. Don't waste time thinking about the things you know you need to do—you already know what they are, so just do those things without delay.

When you are done with the chores of the day, you'll work out. Join a gym. If you can't afford to join a gym, do no-equipment exercises at home. Your body is the only tool you need to get in shape, but weights will help if you can get access to some. So lift weights. Slowly at first. It doesn't matter how much you bench. It only matters that you are trying and that you keep trying.

You are not doing this to impress girls. You are not going to a gym to make yourself look sexy. You are not trying to become a model. You are trying to improve yourself. Period. You are doing this for yourself and no one else.

When you're done your work for the day, read a redpilling book. No TV. No Netflix. No video games. No porn. No drugs. Make your leisure time worthwhile by acquiring useful information or picking up a skill you'd enjoy having. Try to go to bed early and sleep for no less than six hours a night—eight is better.

This kind of lifestyle change will be the hardest thing you've ever done. Don't give up. Above all, do not think. Thinking only leads to laziness and excuses. Every time you start thinking about making excuses, GET ANGRY. This is where you use that RAGE I talked about earlier. If you find yourself lacking the motivation, summon that anger. Bring it to the brim. Then get up and go to the gym. Burn out the rage by lifting. As you lift, think of all the red pills you've swallowed. Think about how mad the truth makes you. Think about how hypocritical and how evil this world is. Think about how, when shit hits the fan, that you'll need to take care of yourself. Think about how the government and people in power force you to be less than what you're capable of becoming. Think of how they want you to conform to social norms designed to prevent your success. Think of how unfair things in this world are. Finally, know that no one on this dammed planet can help you. If you want help then you've got to help yourself.

In three months, you will notice a significant change in yourself. You will look different. You will feel different. You will notice that people react to you differently. It is because you will be more confident at this point. You will start affecting those around you more than they affect you. Some will resent you. Others will admire you. None of that matters. The only thing that matters is you and how you are changing.

Escapism will become boring. Why? Because you no longer live in that fantasy world. You now understand that the mind numbing effect of mass media is INTENTIONAL. They are trying to control you. You won't let them anymore. You won't be able to watch any TV. You won't be able to watch any major news outlet. It will all look like bullshit to you.

In six months, you will no longer be recognizable. Physically and mentally, you will be a completely different person. Dress neatly. It's not a matter of dressing up, but being presentable. If you want to be stylish, go ahead! Show it off. You now have the body to do so.

Always keep taking red pills. Always be true to yourself. Keep immaculate hygienic practices. Your house/apartment should be neat and clean at all times. Never lose sight of how you used to be. Keep telling yourself you don't ever want to go back to being that

You will get your finances in complete order. You will pay all your debt as soon as possible. No more credit card debt. This will be a lot easier than you think because you no longer have degenerate expenses draining you financially. No drugs, no smoking, no movies, no eating out. You will find more energy and more motivation to improve your income. You will no longer be held back from getting that better job because at job interviews, you will be infinitely more confident. Your lack of degenerate behavior and increased physical fitness will improve your intelligence. You will have a clearer mind and your memory will improve, as well as your ability to concentrate. If you are a student, your grades will improve dramatically. If you have a job, your performance will greatly increase.

It's a feedback loop. The better you become physically, the better your mental capacity will increase, which in turn will motivate you to improve your body even more. Suddenly, women who you thought were out of your league will start approaching you, but you are now redpilled. You won't select your wife based on superficial characteristics or fleeting arousal—you'll pick a good woman who can raise a strong family with you. This is the beauty of becoming redpilled.

You can get there anon. You can become redpilled. Life can be awesome. But never become complacent. Keep improving yourself. It stops being a struggle after awhile. It becomes enjoyable to keep improving.

Once you've gotten your shit together, it's time for you to help others. The truth is, no one heeds advice from a loser. As people see your success – as they see how sound your body and mind is – they will naturally gravitate towards you. If they approach you, slowly give them little red pills. Give them suggestions on sites to visit, books to read, and documentaries to watch. Always keep a careful eye on them so that they do not stray from the path. When they are ready, go mask off and show them the way.

Eventually, you'll have done everything you can do in your immediate interpersonal sphere. Your family will be redpilled, your wife will hate degeneracy, and your coworkers might even absorb some of your newfound ideals as you lead them by example. It won't feel like enough, however, and you'll find yourself telling strangers about the Zionist Occupied Government and the dangers of consuming too many processed foods. When you reach this point and you can no longer contain your need to stand up for the truth, begin to develop skills that you can use to enable the process. Design some propaganda, write some software, play an edgy song—spread a true counter-culture. If you are completely devoid of the ability to build these skills, you can always print out pre-made flyers and spread the truth anonymously to your community.

You have a choice to make. Your first option is to keep being miserable, wasting your life away, and wishing things were different. Your second option is to take the red pill, get your shit together, and spread the truth to all who will listen. Do you want to be the weak-willed hedonist who squandered their one chance at life, or the iron-willed icon who led your community to a new golden era? Make your choice and follow through!

TAKE IT AS A COMPLIMENT NAZI IS THE NEW PUNK

https://archive.is/HEh9G

The following piece was written by combining multiple posts from a thread and writing new connective tissue. As always, we've provided an archive of the original.

Most people know National Socialists only by the term "Nazi," which was originally a mockery thought up by jews. We could take offense and insist on the correct word being used instead of the jewish mockery, but I have a better idea. It's time to reclaim the word "Nazi," just like blacks reclaimed the word "nigga" and made it into a part of their culture. Here's how we can do the same for ourselves.

Normies agree with every aspect of Hitler's ideology on paper. Try it some time: walk them through Hitler's ideas, but present them like they're your own. Many will find you highly agreeable. Then mention the word Nazi, or Hitler, and watch as they immediately freak out. The mass indoctrination they feed us has created a mental barrier. Some people, when called a Nazi, will twist themselves into knots, begging you to rescind the label. They reject it without thinking.

Over time, because anything remotely close to nationalism these days is labeled "Nazi," we can reclaim the word Nazi in that context. Highlight the idiocy of the label and the fact that anyone who isn't pro-open borders supports at least some National Socialist beliefs.

Is there not an irony in White men from nations across the world uniting in an ideology of nationalism? Not really. That's what the National Socialists did with the Waffen SS, the Axis Alliance, etc. It's just that normies believe nationalism includes hating on other countries, which is not the case.

Some might scoff at this use of Nazi, as it isn't "historically accurate." The difference between Italian Fascism, BUF, the Iron Guard, the NSDAP, and so on, is for insiders, history buffs, and others of that sort. It's all the same to the uninitiated. I talk to otherwise intelligent, informed, mostly redpilled people, and they literally don't know what the NSDAP is.

So, as a catch-all term for anyone who is a nationalist, or racially aware, etc., it's functional to accept the label "Nazi," even when used in the pejorative. It also takes the wind out of their sails. Note George Lincoln Rockwell's embrace of the term. No one today can actually be a member of the NSDAP, but that doesn't mean we can't take up the "Nazi" title for ourselves.

Does a commie come unglued when you call him a commie, rather than a communist, or a marxist, or whatever?

- > "REEEEE! I'm not a commie! I'm a dialectical materialist syndicalist Trotskyite!"
- "OK commie"

If Nazi becomes an overused insult it'll lose it's power. Only boomers still fear being called "racist" or "sexist." We should overuse the term until it becomes a part of everyday vocabulary. Eventually the younger generations will call themselves Nazis as a way to rebel against kike soy-ciety.

In a world where everyone is free to engage in unprecedented degeneracy, with no act being too taboo for jewish fetishization and commodification, the only way to rebel is to become disciplined. A rebel today must reject the hedonism that has defiled our culture, reject the forced multiculturalism, and reject the dehumanization of Whites. Anyone who rebels in this manner is already called a Nazi. If you don't like trannies, you're called a Nazi. If you're sick of faggots, you're called a Nazi. This is part of how the term "punk" became a badge of honor. More recently, we successfully claimed "chud" for ourselves, too. The only thing stopping us from doing the same for "Nazi" is our learned response, wherein we pretend like we're embarrassed about our ideas, or we claim not to be Nazis based on technicalities ("Oh, well, I was never in the NSDAP, so..."). Stop this cop-out nonsense!

When someone calls you a Nazi, the correct response is "Thank you!" Actual Nazis tend to be high quality people. It isn't shameful to be called one. Nazis tend to be dedicated, loyal, disciplined, well-educated, and strong. Also, in general use by our opposition, "Nazi" merely denotes "the enemy," so by reclaiming the term you are in effect stating "Yes, I am your enemy. I oppose all that you represent." That's what they actually mean by using Nazi pejoratively, whether they are consciously aware of it or not.

If you asked a normal person to compare your average Nazi to your average troon, while conveniently leaving out the "Nazi" label, they would prefer the company of the Nazi every time. It is not our ideas that need fixing, nor is it the quality of our personnel. What we have is a communication issue. Reclaim the word Nazi, make it into a compliment, and you'll find that many people will eagerly call themselves Nazis. They should—it's better than conforming to Clown World.

DOXXED. DESTROYED. DETERMINED. FREE.

by Fren, Wed March 1 2023 05:14:08 | https://archive.is/rmL5N

It is important to many of us that we speak anonymously, or pseudonymously—especially when we live in countries where there is no right to free speech. Even in the United States, where freedom of speech is supposed to be seared, someone can still have their entire life destroyed if they say the "wrong "timing. In that senses, speaking the truth is treated as a crime worldwiseld, even if the punishment is dolled out informally in some places. If you're living somewhere with an actual law against certain speech/expression, we encourage you to follow your local laws, of course, but we refuse to aknowledge these laws as just or fair. Limitations on speech should be few and far between.

Sometimes we don't have the luxury of anonymity. Sometimes we're forced to go full mask-off, even if it means losing everything. Other times we're simply doxxed without any choice in the matter—perhaps due to bad luck, or poor OPSEC. People in our movement have lost jobs, familial connections, romantic relationships, friendships, and countless other precious things—all for speaking the Truth.

When you are in this position, you musn't despair. There is life after doxxation. If you're not in a prison cell and you have access to this material, you're blessed. No matter what they take from you, no matter how much they tarnish your reputation, they cannot do anything to change the Truth. Take advantage of your newfound freedom and do the thing that they hate most: speak up. To the best of your ability, with whatever resources you're able to acquire, spread the information they so desperately want to censor.

If you have nothing to lose, you might be tempted to harm yourself, or to turn to hedonism, or to do any number of short-sighted things. Dort. The system would love to see that final incuration of your suffering play out. Instead, eclebrate your total freedom. Say to yourself "My fife is over. The reputation Ind." the character I was building within this LARP of a clown world is gone. The fictional version of myself that I presented at parties is dead. Everyone dies eventually and it was always going to end up this way. I am lucky to outlive that fictional version of myself. I will use this new life - this second life - to help my fold. To help have the second life - to help my fold. The second life - to help my fold.

What follows is a piece written by a fren who is going through just such a resurrection. He has reached out to our community to brainstorm ideas on how to live his new life to the fullest. We have made our usual alterations, imbuing meaning author might not present included, but the archive limit above is available for those who wish to reach the original.

I have been doxxed, my life destroyed, through the combined efforts of my own government and various radical neo-Marxist elements in my country. They have jointly conspired to destroy my life due to my past efforts at spreading the information necessary to save our People. They are disgusting scum. They have no honor, nor are they bound to the Truth in any regard. They shall never see Valhalla—they cannot end up otherwhere than a realm such as Nastrond, but that would likely be above them still. They are of the spirit of treachery and have no true kith or kin. They are thralls of the enemy of our People. I shall not lament my situation any more, nor tire you with explanations for how it came to be, as most would not understand or believe me regardless, 'lest placed into the same circumstances.

I seek ways to use my life in the furtherance of my People. Even if the skraelings amongst them have contributed to my situation, it is my duty to sacrifice for those who can be saved. Since I am doxxed, it is possible to use my actual face and name. However, they have tarnished my reputation significantly, so this must be taken into account when designing tactics. I intend to start small but I will work until the end. They should not have fucked with me. I will not do anything that could get me incarcerated (nor do I seek to do anything criminal), so I will be able to continue my campaign longer.

I seek to wake as many as I can. We must expose people to information which has been hidden from them. I have thought of a few ways so far, but I'm not sure which to go with first, or which could make the largest impact. I am aware that, after being previously targeted, they will come down on me with the force of Moloch. I will likely be killed or "dealt with" eventually, just to shut me up. Such is life in the pursuit of Truth and honor.

I've considered standing on major roads in my town, perhaps while livestreaming (certainly recording), and carrying signs with "passable" redpills—information which cannot be considered "hate speech" in my dystopian hellscape of an economic zone, yet still carries vital information that can lead to more. For instance, a sign that simply says (along with relevant imagery) something like:

- > Genetics Matter!
- > GIVE A FUCK or YOU'RE OUT OF LUCK!
- > Look up MAOA 2-Repeat Allele.
- > Look up "X."

MAOA 2-Repeat, of course, is referring to the gene that Blacks (especially Sub-Saharan Africans) have in much greater frequency than Europeans. "X" could be other similar genes, for cognition or behavior, or any other concept that might get people thinking more deeply. I would also print out pictures or memes for whichever sign I'm using on that day, and I wouldn't use the same sign every day.

I'm not sure how I could "safely" get people to understand race with this tactic, as I live in a country where wrongthink is punishable. I can spread information like this, so long as I do not directly target racial variation, or the head of the snake—jews. Ideally, I want my target audience to be able to infer that there are significant differences between races, or to infer something about the jewish tactics being used against us. I could potentially livestream and talk to people who talk to me, or who ask about the signs. A lot of the "magic" would be found in those conversations, not on the signs themselves.

Many people already know who I am. I have an advantage in that, even though I am now perhaps "infamous," I am yet likely to draw an audience just through their doxxing's effect. Hopefully the damage they've done to me can be turned into a strength.

It's important that we spread information, even - and perhaps especially - if people find that information shocking. Such information invites questions and interest that can be used to steer conversations and redpill people. I seek to do this IRL and via my livestreams/videos online. I'm not stuck on the sign idea, nor to anything else. I'm open to any worthwhile ideas. As my life is already destroyed, I can make sacrifices. My reputation cannot be ruined further and my actions are all completely legal. Let the public watch them crucify a peaceful, law-abiding man for having the "wrong" thoughts.

My vendetta on behalf of the Truth is yet young, but I am ready and willing to dedicate myself. I will not likely be able to work a "normal" job, unless I find a fully redpilled employer. I will always be persecuted in my country, until Truth and sanity prevail. This is my fate. I will turn it into something good with your help. Please, brothers, help me come up with ways to make an impact before I'm eventually driven innawoods, made homeless, or killed due to this persecution. My life will not be in vain and my People will one day be free. In some small part, at least, they'll be freed through my actions—even if I don't get to see it myself.

Hitler, National Socialism, and Recruiting for Our Cause

https://nationalvanguard.org/2023/04/hitler-national-socialism-and-recruiting-for-our-cause/ 📋 https://archive.ph/efZtE

Originally written as part of the National Alliance Membership Handbook, this piece by Dr. Pierce stands in contrast to the preceding pieces that our community members have written. As the original February 1981 version of the handbook doesn't seem to include this passage, we believe it to have originated in the 1993 revision, which—to our knowledge—was the last version published before Dr. Pierce's passing. Dr. Pierce left a massive body of valuable work behind and we all owe him a debt. Let us honor him now by examining his thoughts on issues that are still relevant today. We have left this text virtually unaltered from the version available on the National Alliance website.

We are in no way associated with the National Alliance, but we do encourage you to check out their online bookstore for some otherwise hard to acquire materials. It should go without saying that we do not profit in any way from their book sales, website views, or memberships.

Inevitably, every member who engages in public activity, so that he is recognized publicly as a member, will be asked, "Are you a Nazi?" or, "Are you a neo-Nazi?" just as the National Alliance is routinely described in the controlled news media as a "Nazi (or neo-Nazi) organization." (For those who make the distinction, the difference between "Nazi" and "neo-Nazi" seems to be this: The former term refers only to the National Socialist German Workers' Party and its members. The latter term refers to organizations and people who draw their inspiration from the former, or from the same sources as the former, but which are too young to have been directly associated with the former. Many people, of course, make no distinction between the two terms.)

So how does a member answer the question? If he wants to give a meaningful answer, he must know what is in the mind of his interrogator: What is his interrogator's understanding of "Nazi"? If it's a Politically Correct bigot (which will be the case for anyone working for the controlled media), or even a typical "couch potato" whose ideas all came from a television tube, we know that he is thinking of sinister-looking men in black uniforms and swastika armbands who like to click their heels together, thrust out their right arms, and shout, "Sieg! Heil!" before marching off to gleefully machine-gun a group of prisoners who were arrested for listening to the wrong radio program or failing to have a photograph of the Führer displayed in their living rooms. This mythical "Nazi" is an invention of the jews who control the mass media, and so the member is perfectly correct in answering, "No. I am not a Nazi, and the National Alliance is not a Nazi organization."

Suppose, however, that the person asking the question is a potential recruit, someone with an open mind who really wants to understand our beliefs and goals. In this case we are obliged to explore the question more deeply, and in so doing we may have an opportunity to use one of the catchiest ideas of all: the idea of National Socialism.

Using this idea requires great care and good judgment. It is an idea which evokes such strong feelings that even some members cannot face it squarely. On the one hand there are those who are embarrassed by it and would be happier if the National Alliance would explicitly disavow it. On the other hand there are those who accept it wholeheartedly but are unable to distinguish between the idea itself and its specific manifestations in Germany between about 1920 and 1945. They are caught up not only in the idea but also in the mystique of Adolf Hitler and the National Socialist era in Germany, and there are very real dangers in this. For one thing, many of the latter people make a cult of National Socialism, with an emphasis on symbols, uniforms, insignia, rituals, and the like. The danger in this is that National Socialism becomes a hobby, and hobbyism becomes a substitute for effective action.

And if we associate ourselves with the cult of National Socialism, as contrasted with the idea, we are forced to contend with the mythical image created by the jews, for that will be the image raised in the mind of the average person who comes into contact with us.

It is largely for this reason that we have the admonitions elsewhere in this handbook against uniforms, quasiuniforms, and non-Alliance insignia. Breaking through the wall of misunderstanding between us and the White public is a large enough task without raising the specter of made-in-Hollywood 'Nazis." Even if there were no such negative image to overcome, however — even if the jews never had made an anti-"Nazi" film or television show — it would be wrong for the Alliance to associate itself with the cult aspects of National Socialism in Germany prior to 1945. Things that were natural and helped form a positive public image in Germany at that time seem unnatural and alien in America and many other parts of the White world today. For example, party uniforms were the accepted norm in Germany, not just for the National Socialists, but also for the Communists, the Catholic Centrists, and other political groupings. They never have been the norm in America.

It also is wrong, however, for us to shut our minds to the eternal truths embodied in the National Socialist idea: they are the truths on which our own creed is based. It is wrong for us to shut our eyes to the truth about the Second World War, its background, its conduct, the real issues involved, and the real consequences of its loss by our race. And it is wrong for us not to acknowledge the debt our race owes to Adolf Hitler and his followers throughout Europe, despite their apparent defeat in 1945.

The recruiter who is working with the right sort of potential member — and who himself has an adequate mastery of the subject — can use the National Socialist idea and the mystique associated with its manifestation in Germany as a powerful tool for opening the mind of his prospect to the National Alliance message.

Iffler was a kind man, an animal lover, an artist, a military veteran, and a visionary leader for his people.

RECLAIMING ROBIN HOOD

This piece concerns the symbolic nature of a fictional character. We do not advocate for or condone robbery, nor do we sanction any other illegal action. We do advocate for the appropriation of symbols and mythologies that were ours to begin with Robin Hood is a neat folk character who everyone in our movement could recognize. In popular culture, he is a bandit lord who steals from the rich and gives to the poor. This latter aspect of his nature has sadly allowed leftists to claim him as their own. Though the left has long since jettisoned any pretense of caring about the poor and downtrodden, instead focusing on humiliating White people.

Now firstly, Robin Hood is a mythological figure in European history—Anglo-Saxon history, more specifically. The fact that he isn't a nigger or a kike should immediately decouple him from the modern left. However, he is far more than this. In the Medieval and post-Medieval context, Robin Hood was a hero of the Yeomen class of England. This being the Anglo-Saxon lower classes rather than the Norman elites Thus, Robin Hood has been viewed by many as a defender of his native kinsmen against foreign overlords. Something which we should be all too familiar with.

Furthermore, Robin Hood is not interested in collectivization or economic redistribution for redistribution's sake. Instead, Robin Hood explicitly wages a kind of insurgency against the Clerical rulers and money lenders of England. In A Gest of Robyn Hode, the earliest extensive collection of tales featuring the character, Robin Hood is asked by Lytil Johnn who they should target for robbery. Robin Hood tells him to do no harm to farmers, or to knights, or to squires, or, of course, to Yeomen, who are good fellows. Instead, he names Bishops and Arch Bishops as those whom they should beat and bind.

"We are Robynhodesmen. War, war, war."

- Anonymous peasants in Norfolk, said to have been sung during acts of rebellion and banditry, circa 1444.

Robin Hood targets the Clergy because they are unscrupulous money lenders and hypocrites. If Robin Hood were a real man today, he would be considered a far-right extremist for targeting the current money lenders. Who are the modern priests and clergy? Media corporations and the jews who own them. Albert Einstein described his fellow jews as the "moral aristocracy" of the modern world

Robin Hood should be recovered and made into a symbol because he is an excellent historical figure. He's traditionally shown resistance to corrupt authorities and money lending elites. He is well known by all and no one bears ill will towards him.

To recover him, all we need to do is associate with him in the same way we associated with Pepe. My Pillow, or Moon Man. However, Robin Hood is a far more organic and meaningful figure to claim for the righteous cause since he is a legend of our own history. We can make whoever and whatever we want into a White symbol. All we need to do is adopt him as our own.

CONTACT AND SUBMISSIONS

FREN-Z accepts submissions! We'll consider any form of media. Written pieces and visuals, if selected, will be used in FREN-Z. Writing, visuals, videos, music, and all other forms of submission may be utilized through our digital channels as we branch out into more content, and may be subsequently highlighted in FREN-Z.

Contributors may submit anonymously, pseudonymously, or under their real names. Please do not submit copyrighted material that you have not made yourself, or that is otherwise not utilizable under the banner(s) of fair and/or transformative use. Raw information/sources that you want us to have can be submitted with the preface [TIP].

Submissions can be made in two ways:

- 1) By emailing FREN-Z-MAG@Proton.me with your submission. Please preface the subject of the email with [SUBMISSION]. We'd prefer not to deal with attachments when possible, so external hosting of files is appreciated. BayIMG works wonderfully for images and written content can be sent as a Pastebin, or through similar services.
 - 2) By posting in our most recent Frens Chan /art/ thread.

FREN-Z does not publish materials that it finds to be objectionable. We reserve the right to reject your submissions, with or without notice, for any reason. We have no obligation to publish your materials. We do not claim ownership of your submitted works and you retain your intellectual property, but submission of a work is tantamount to giving us permission to publish it in our magazine and online. If physical print runs are released, your submissions will be included. There is no payment for submissions at this time, and there is no compensation otherwise.

We're a quarterly publication, with issues coming out every three months. In general, we'll release issues in/around: JANUARY, APRIL, JULY, and OCTOBER. You must have your ad arranged by the end of the previous month, i.e. an ad for the upcoming October issue must be finalized by the end of September. The earlier you request ad space, the better it is for everyone. We will reject ads for anything we deem immoral, unfrenly, or degenerate.

We accept payment in most major crypto currencies, but we prefer Monero, and we may be willing to offer discounts for those willing to pay with it.

FREN-Z is reader supported. We currently release each issue for free. By donating, you help us create a higher quality magazine. Your contribution can extend our reach and allow us to pay our staff/contributors in the future.

Together, we can defeat Globohomo.
